Summary

This Marine Notice serves to notify the industry of South Africa's of the implementation of the Maritime Labour Convention into South African Legislation and contains a Checklist of requirements for Seafarer Recruitment and Placement Services (SRPS) to be accredited.

1. South Africa ratified the Maritime Labour Convention on 21 June 2013.
2. The Convention entered into force on 20 August 2013.
3. Standard A1.4.2 of the Maritime Labour Convention requires that seafarer recruitment and placement services "shall be operated only in Conformity with a standardized system of licensing or certification or other form of regulation"
4. Seafarer Recruitment and Placement Agencies are therefore required to be accredited by SAMS for the supply of seafarers placed on vessels where the flag state has ratified the Convention.
5. SAMS will audit, with the purpose of issuing a certificate of accreditation, in terms of the Maritime Labour Convention, agencies that are required by the flag state and the ship-owner to demonstrate compliance with the Convention.
6. SAMS is awaiting promulgation of the Merchant Shipping (Seafarer Recruitment and Placement) Regulations before a Certificate of Accreditation can be issued in terms of these regulations.
7. To assist agencies to prepare for the audit, the checklist to be used is attached as an annex. The checklist is generic in that it caters for the issue of a certificate of accreditation in terms of the Convention and South African Legislation, as promulgated.
