SECTION 3: SPECIFICATIONS / SCOPE OF WORKS / TERMS OF REFERENCES

3.1 Background and/or Purpose of this Bid

With the introduction of the approved Governance Framework and Operating Model in 2021, Operations Management initiated the review of existing policy documentation to ensure that it is aligned with the approved GFOM. This included the review of the following existing documents:

- Policies
- Procedures
- Business Processes Working Instructions
- Registers and Manuals

Operations Management had to respond to this critical requirement from business: ensuring that the policy documents were aligned to the GFOM and compliant with the ACSA-approved framework and review cycles where over 90% of the documents were outdated. This has now been addressed.

During this period, from 2021 to 2024, it became evident that there was a considerable need for a complete re-look at all existing ways of working, documentation, tools, and methods of operation. It was clear that many of these needed to be more relevant to the type of operation ACSA aspires to achieve, as documented in the reviewed strategy.

Therefore, it became necessary to initiate a "Business Re-Engineering" initiative (program) to ensure that Operations Management can respond to the goal of ACSA's strategic pillar of "Run Airport" by enhancing OM's ability to deliver on the core operational requirements.

In addition to the above, it becomes critical to ensure that OM implements the best-in-class operational processes, systems, technologies and people to ensure that the business remains efficient for its survival in the future.

In addition to the GFOM, Operations Management is implementing other fundamental business changes that will affect operations soon.

3.1.1 Purpose

The purpose is to seek the services of a professional service provider to implement Business Re-Engineering within the Operations Management Division.

The objectives are to align with the ACSA strategic pillar of Run Airports through the implementation of operational efficiencies and the regionalisation model. This will also identify and enable the Operations Management Division to eliminate unproductive activities by ensuring the most effective and efficient business processes are implemented.

This includes, amongst others, the following:

- a. Business Process Optimisation
- b. Operational Cost Reduction
- c. Improve Customer Satisfaction
- d. Improve on quality of service or outputs (Reducing Re-Work)
- e. Agility and Adaptability to change.
- f. Improve staff satisfaction engagement, morale, and empowerment through upskilling.
- g. Determination of required resources based on requirements.
- h. Building a foundation for capacity modelling resource optimisation and demand analysis
- i. Implement and embed new ways of working (training and change management)
- j. Implement Innovative, Competitive, and Best Practices in our processes.

3.1.2 Value Drivers

Operations Management faces many operational challenges that need to be dealt with to ensure the successful delivery of core operational services to passengers, baggage, aircraft, and Cargo processes to our key customers and stakeholders.

In the absence of efficient and effective business processes, customer or stakeholder satisfaction is at risk due to the uncertainty of providing services or goods in a constant quality and timely manner. The evolution of the Airport Management System into the new format now forces OM to investigate Business Processes and ensure that the system is aligned to ACSA processes, or the development is informed by ACSA practices where applicable with adopting innovative solutions that the system presents or has to offer. This also presents the opportunity to automate some activities and align reporting to best practices that will free up resources to focus on other primary activities that cannot be achieved through the new system (learnings from current AMS systems).

Therefore, this presents an opportunity for Operations Management to engage in a Business Re-Engineering program to ensure that the purpose of business processes is designed to produce the intended level of service for our customers and stakeholders
