2. BACKGROUND INFORMATION

2.1. Overview

Industrial Development Corporation (IDC) is South Africa’s largest national development finance institution (DFI) whose primary objectives are to promote the establishment of new industries and the development of existing industries and to provide for other incidental matters. This objective is achieved by developing, supporting and funding of industrial projects and deals in new and existing industries aligned to the industrial goals of South Africa. IDC is also responsible for managing these industrial projects through completion and commercial operation, including account management in the Client Services & Growth and the Subsidiaries & Significant Investments Department.

The IDC is at a pivotal stage in its journey to strengthen strategy execution and project delivery in the organisation. IDC manages a diverse and expanding portfolio of initiatives—spanning projects, programmes, and operational activities—across multiple divisions and functions. While a governance framework exists, its application is inconsistent, visibility is fragmented, and accountability is unclear. The Strategy Execution Unit (SEU) or Programme Management Office (PMO), situated within the Strategy Department, is stretched managing strategic initiatives, while divisional project efforts compete for limited capacity and attention.

Recent internal reviews and workshops have highlighted the need for an integrated, enterprise-wide governance and portfolio management approach that adapts to both planned and emergent initiatives, and solves for the challenges of inconsistent classification, tracking, reporting and, the imperative to accelerate automation. IDC also seeks to cultivate a culture that champions project management excellence, innovation, collaboration, and continuous improvement; clarify accountability; and streamline decision-making so teams are empowered to deliver without unnecessary bureaucracy.

2.2. Purpose

The IDC seeks to appoint a service provider with vast experience in establishing enterprise project and programme governance, and portfolio integration, in commercial banks and/or development finance institutions, to design and implement a fit-for-purpose project governance structure, that strengthens strategy execution, enhances transparency, and embeds responsible, ways of working across the organisation.

3. SCOPE OF WORK/TERMS OF REFERENCE

3.1. Scope of work overview

The scope of work will be implemented through a series of defined stages. The outputs of each stage will require formal approval by the IDC's Executive Committee (Exco) before any subsequent stage may commence. The stage-gate criteria will be agreed and baselined by the project sponsors and service provider prior to the commencement of each stage. The appointed service provider will be required to support the preparation of submission materials and participate in presenting the outputs of each stage to Exco. Should Exco decide not to approve the continuation of the assignment at the end of any stage, the project will conclude at that point, and no further work will be undertaken by the service provider.

The scope of work required from the service provider is to assist the IDC in strengthening the capacity and capabilities of its strategy execution function, a rationalisation of the project portfolio through the introduction of a robust prioritisation and resource allocation framework, accelerating the automation of governance processes and reporting, while ensuring effective knowledge transfer and change management. This will be achieved across four project stages as outlined in more detail in 3.2 below.
