1. PURPOSE

- 1.1 Appointment of a service provider for supply, delivery and off-load of materials to support separation at Source in eight (08) Metropolitan Municipalities in support of Operation Phakisa: Chemicals and Waste Economy under the separation of waste at source initiative

2. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

- 2.1 South Africa is facing a major solid waste management crisis that requires urgent action from all spheres of government in collaboration with civil society, the private sector and academia. According to a 2012 World Bank Report, South Africa was identified as the 15th largest generator of waste in the world. Globally, the total amount of municipal solid waste produced in cities (densely populated urban areas) is growing even faster than urbanisation is occurring and is likely to almost double by 2025, going from 1.3 billion tons per year to 2.2 billion tons.
- 2.2 South African cities face a dire crisis with landfill space in the country whereby some are expected to run out in six years' time if drastic steps are not taken to significantly reduce the amount of waste generated and to accelerate recycling efforts. Current estimates indicate that only 10% of the country's waste is being recycled, while uncollected and mismanaged waste contributes to flooding, land contamination, air and water pollution and leads to serious public health impacts.
- 2.3 Despite there being an enabling legislative environment for South African cities to take action, the challenges of inadequate human and financial resources, poor execution and lack of enforcement of existing regulations and by-laws persist across all metropolitan municipalities. In addition, according to the 2012 World Bank Report, the financial value of the formal South African waste sector (both public and private), which is estimated to be as high as R15.3bn or 0.51 percent of South Africa's gross domestic product (GDP), as well as the economic potential of the waste sector have still not been fully realised.
- 2.4 In an effort to ensure that the potential economic benefits of the waste sector are realised and to assist cities accelerate their transition to sustainability, the Department of Forestry, Fisheries and the Environment (DFFE) in collaboration with the Department of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation (DPME) hosted the Operation Phakisa: Chemicals and Waste Economy Operation from 24 July-24 August 2017. Operation Phakisa: Chemicals and Waste Economy was aimed at engaging on opportunities that call lead to reduction of impact on the environment, while growing the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) contribution and creating jobs.

- 2.5 The session was attended by various sector stakeholders and high impact initiatives were identified, that would create new jobs, contribute to GDP growth and reduce the harmful impacts of chemicals and waste on the economy. Four (4) work streams and twenty (20) initiatives were identified.
- 2.6 One of the initiatives of the Phakisa Lab was to set a goal of a minimum of 50% of households separating waste at source (S@S) in Metropolitan Municipalities by 2024. This will in part be achieved through the increased participation rates in households separating at source.

3. OBJECTIVES

- 3.1 The Department would like to appoint service provider for supply, delivery and off-load of materials to support separation at source in 8 Metropolitan Municipalities in support of Operation Phakisa: Chemicals and Waste Economy under the separation of waste at source initiative:
- To ensure that numbers of households participating in separation at source are increased
 - To ensure that waste pickers who have been incorporated in the separation at source programme benefit from clean and non-contaminated materials

4. SCOPE AND EXTENT OF WORK

- 4.1 The appointed service provider is expected to supply, deliver and offload of materials of high standard and within the required specifications and timeframes at the municipal offices to be confirmed by the Project Manager.

5. EXPECTED DELIVERABLES / OUTCOMES

The supply, delivery and off load of materials within the specified timeframes and quantities.
