De Villiers credits Peterson for unlocking debut season fairytale

Warriors skipper Matthew de Villiers says he would probably have been “banging 100s” in club cricket had it not been for the intervention of coach Robin Peterson.

De Villiers capped a dream debut season in professional cricket by leading the Warriors to the T20 Challenge title, sealed dramatically with a Super Over win against Boland in Paarl.

The 23-year-old captain said the victory – the franchise’s first T20 title in 15 years – was the result of a group that refused to back down, even when the pressure peaked late in the tournament.

“We always knew it would be a tough outing in Paarl. The message before the game was that we must stay calm because playing Boland in Paarl is not easy. It was a fantastic victory for us... the first time in 15 years,” he told Sports-Boom.co.za.

The Warriors had an opportunity to seal the match in the final over of regulation play but let the moment slip, forcing the contest into a Super Over.

“We always make things difficult for ourselves,” De Villiers joked.

“JP [King] has been at the Warriors for a while now, and for him to face the last couple of deliveries... he will have mixed emotions not getting the side over the line sooner, but the tears of joy in the end speak volumes about how much this team means to him. Nevertheless, the boys are stoked we got over the line.”

De Villiers reflected on the mental challenge of the season.

“It has been a hard season, especially as captain. The boys have worked incredibly hard to dig deep. Cricket is a mental game. We lost here in the qualifiers, then had to travel back home to play for a spot in the final, then fly back to Paarl again and beat them, it’s quite special.”

De Villiers’ path to professional cricket was far from straightforward. Despite strong club-cricket performances in Cape Town, he was overlooked by Western Province.

It was Robin Peterson who finally offered him an opportunity with the Warriors in Gqeberha.

“Last year was a pinch-me kind of moment. I have worked hard to get to this point... who knows where I would be if it wasn’t for Robbie [Peterson]? I would probably be banging 100s in club cricket in Cape Town.”

“With Rory Kleinveldt trying to change things at Western Province and bringing in more local guys, there is just so much talent in the Western Cape that I feel was being overlooked. Robbie brought me to the Warriors, and I learnt a lot from him. I just had to go out and do what I do best, and luckily so far so good.”

Remarkably, De Villiers was handed the captaincy at the start of the T20 Challenge, extraordinary for a player in his first professional season. Peterson believed he was ready.

He finished as the tournament’s leading run scorer in his first season. “I am incredibly happy! The team and coaches gave me a role where I was able to express myself and do what I do best. I must give credit to the players around me for playing their part as well, it allowed me to play the way I do. Luckily, I was able to score a few 50s.”

“I remember playing backyard cricket when I was three... I was always trying to be Mark Boucher, Jacques Kallis or AB de Villiers. And the thought for me was always the Proteas! As you get older you understand the real world and things become more difficult. My mind drifted away a bit from that Proteas dream, but my heart has been green and always will be. Hopefully I keep performing for my team, win games for them, and maybe win games for the Proteas as well.”

De Villiers’ admiration for AB de Villiers extends beyond talent, he even shares the same surname and shirt number, 17.

“He [AB de Villiers] is definitely my role model. His stats speak for themselves. He has put South Africa in positions to win games, even around the world as well. I have started with ‘de Villiers 17’ and try to play a good brand of cricket. The time will come when I will create my own brand. Just looking at the professionals, I just want to do what they are doing until I find myself.” - SportsBoom
