Appendix A – Scope of Work

The South African Bureau of Standards (SABS) requires a layer of security to manage external untrusted network. Additional external firewalls are required to monitor and filter all incoming and outgoing traffic based on pre-set security rules.

The Primary role of the external firewalls will be:

- First line of defence: first point of contact for all external traffic and prevent wide range of threats before they can enter the internal network.
- Traffic filtering: filters network traffic according to a predetermined set of security criteria after inspecting all incoming and outgoing traffic.
- Enforcing security policies enforces the organization's security policies by determining which data packets are safe and legitimate and which are not.
- Protecting against threats prevents number of cyber-attacks, including malware, phishing attempts, brute-force assaults and distributed denial-of-service (DDoS) attacks.
- Controlling access prevents unauthorized users and malicious activities from gaining access to the private network and its sensitive data.
- Ensuring data integrity: block harmful traffic, maintain the integrity and safety of the data within the internal network.

SABS is currently using Fortinet Firewalls and requires a different firewall brand (solution) for the external firewalls and ensure the risk of the same brand is managed.

Category	QTY	Description
Firewalls	2	Low level design documentation, install and Configure firewalls. Configuration should include high availability between the firewalls.
Firewalls Licenses		Licenses are needed for a duration of 36 months.
Network		Configure network segmentation of the SABS Network. Separation of network (use DMZ to protect internal systems from the public internet. create separate segments for different departments).

Next Generation Firewall (NGFW) throughput		Intrusion Prevention (IPS) and application control enabled.
Highest Performance Threat Prevention		Advanced solutions technologies like AI, machine learning, and behavioural analysis to proactively detect and respond to threats that bypass traditional security measures. inspect encrypted traffic and prevent evasive attacks without impacting on internal network performance.

Intrusion Prevention System (IPS) Throughput		Ensure maximum amount of network data an Intrusion Prevention System (IPS) process in each time without causing latency or performance issues.
Concurrent sessions	60000	multiple connections or events occurring simultaneously, either for the same user or across a group.
Secure Socket Layer (SSL) Virtual Private Network (VPN) Throughput		Ensure maximum data transfer rate on SSL-based Virtual Private Network, reflect efficiency and security for remote access.
Concurrent Secure Socket Layer (SSL) Virtual Private Network (VPN) Users	600	Enable SSL inspection, which decrypts and inspects encrypted traffic for threats, significantly increases the load on the device and reduces the number of concurrent users it can handle.
Firewall Policies		set rules that define how a firewall should manage network traffic, acting as the strategic blueprint for network security.
New Sessions/Sec		Performance metric indicating the rate at which new connections or sessions are being established across the security policy.
High Performance HTTPS Inspection		Inspect a broad range of encrypted TLS 1.3 and HTTP/2 channels while also excluding inspection of sensitive regulated industry traffic. fine-tune HTTPS security using customizable dynamic security policies.
