3. PROPOSAL SPECIFICATION

3.1. Scope of Work

The National Integrated Cyber Infrastructure System (NICIS) hosts the CHPC National Conference annually at the end of November/start of December. The conference includes parallel tracks for the Centre for High Performance Computing (CHPC), South African National Research Network (SANReN), and Data Intensive Research Initiative of South Africa (DIRISA) related presentations, workshops, and student competitions.

SANReN will host its annual Cyber Security Challenge (CSC) competition for tertiary students in the information security space as a parallel event to the annual CHPC National Conference. During the SANReN CSC competition, students are required to solve ethical hacking challenges in a competitive and formal environment. Student challenges are presented in a structured and enclosed environment commonly known as a Capture the Flag (CTF) event. A typical and expected CTF event includes a variety of challenges from different disciplines within the cybersecurity domain. More information regarding the SANReN CSC competition can be found at <https://csc.ac.za/>.

Participation in the SANReN CSC competition is comprised of two rounds:

- Annual Qualification Round: Students, grouped into teams of 3 or 4, from eligible South African tertiary education institutions, are invited to compete for a place in the SANReN CSC final. Teams from SADC universities are also invited to participate in the qualification round. The qualification round takes place online and runs from March through to September.
- Annual Final Round: the top ten (10) teams are selected and invited to participate in person at the final event hosted alongside the annual CHPC National Conference (end of November/start of December).

Proposals are hereby invited for the supply of ethical hacking challenges, referred to as CTF challenges, for a SANReN-implemented CTFd platform. CTFd (<https://ctfd.io/>) is an open-source but customisable CTF framework.

All proposals are to be submitted in the format specified in this section.

3.1.1. Past Experience

Bidders must submit an overall portfolio of evidence showing past experience in provisioning CTF challenges for events. The portfolio of evidence must list all past events supported, including the date of the event, the number and different categories of CTF challenges provided. SANReN prefers the supply of CTF challenges directly by the bidder, however, will accept the supply of CTF challenges via sub-contracting, joint venture or a consortium.

For bidders supplying the CTF challenges directly, the proposal must be accompanied by signed reference letters from the event organiser for at least one (1) event, three (3) or more preferred.

For bidders supplying the CTF challenges via sub-contracting, joint venture or consortium, the proposal must be accompanied by signed reference letters from the event organiser for at least one (1) event, three (3) or more preferred, confirming the past collaboration between the sub-contractors, joint venture or consortium parties.

It is important to note that the supply of problem statements for hackathons will not be considered, only the supply of CTF challenges to events.

Failure to submit the portfolio of evidence and requested reference letters will result in non-compliance.

3.1.2. Challenge Categories

It is required that the delivered challenges cover at least six (6) of the following categories (although coverage of all categories is preferred):

- Web Exploitation
- Cryptography
- Forensics
- Reverse Engineering
- Open-source Intelligence (OSINT)
- Network Analysis
- Binary Exploitation
- Mobile Security
- Steganography

Bidders must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the challenge categories that can be covered by the CTF challenges to be delivered. The category, scope and availability of possible challenges should be presented (a summary or explanation of the breadth and scope of available challenges) in the technical proposal.

3.1.3. Number of Challenges

CTF challenges – inclusive of challenge solutions – are required for the following SANReN CSC events:

- SANReN CSC Final 2025 - twenty-four (24) challenges must be supplied.
- SANReN CSC Qualification 2026 – forty (40) challenges must be supplied.

Thus, a total of sixty-four (64) CTF challenges, including challenge solutions, must be provided for two (2) events.

3.1.4. Delivery of Challenges

The bidder must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the provisioning of the CTF challenges. It is preferred that the CTF challenges be directly supplied by the bidder. In the case of sub-contracting, joint venture, or consortium, the following must be supplied with the technical proposal:

- In the case of Sub-contracting, a legally valid and signed sub-contracting agreement (signed by all parties involved) must be submitted with the technical proposal and specify the following items:
 - Identification of the main contractor and the sub-contractor(s).
 - A detailed scope of work to be sub-contracted.
 - The percentage of the total contract value being sub-contracted.
 - Clear roles and responsibilities of each party in the agreement.
 - Confirmation that the party responsible for providing the technical support (remote and in-person) is the party provisioning the CTF challenges (who has the technical knowledge and insight).
 - Confirmation that the responsible party to address errors and corrections is the party provisioning the CTF challenges (who has the technical knowledge and insight).
 - A risk mitigation plan to ensure that the sub-contractor(s) deliver the contracted work to the requirements of this tender.

- In the case of a Joint Venture, a legally valid and signed Joint Venture agreement (signed by all parties involved) must be submitted with the technical proposal and specify the following items:
 - The legal status of the joint venture (contractual or incorporated).
 - The lead member of the joint venture.
 - The party that will be contracting with the CSIR.
 - Clear roles and responsibilities of the parties in the Joint Venture.
 - Detailed scope of work of each party.
 - Confirmation that the party responsible for providing the technical support (remote and in-person) is the party provisioning the CTF challenges (who has the technical knowledge and insight).
 - Confirmation that the responsible party to address errors and corrections is the party provisioning the CTF challenges (who has the technical knowledge and insight).

- In the case of a Consortium, a legally valid and signed Consortium agreement (signed by all parties involved) must be submitted with the technical proposal and specify the following items:
 - Identifies all consortium members.
 - The lead member of the consortium.
 - The member(s) that will be contracting with the CSIR.
 - Clear roles and responsibilities of each consortium member.
 - Detailed scope of work of each consortium member.
 - Confirmation that the consortium member responsible for providing the technical support (remote and in-person) is the party provisioning the CTF challenges (who has the technical knowledge and insight).
 - Confirmation that the consortium member responsible party to address errors and corrections is the party provisioning the CTF challenges (who has the technical knowledge and insight).

The Sub-contracting, Joint Venture or Consortium Agreement must be in place at the time of bid submission.

Bidders must note that the following will result in non-compliance:

- Failure to include the required agreement as part of the technical proposal, inclusive of the items specified per agreement as stipulated above in Section 3.1.4.
- Due to the nature of the technical support requirements, no licensing of CTF challenges from third parties will be allowed.

Should it be discovered during review that any of the delivered CTF challenges contain errors and corrections are required, the bidder must resolve the errors at no further cost.

3.1.5. Difficulty Levels of Challenges

Determining the difficulty levels of CTF challenges can be subjective since participants with advanced knowledge of a certain category can find challenges classified as hard trivial, while participants with limited knowledge can find easy challenges difficult to complete. However, as a baseline, it is recommended that the CTF challenges to be delivered conform to the following minimum criteria:

- Easy
 - Restricted to a single challenge category (see Section 3.1.2).
 - Single-step challenge (only one technical step¹ is required to solve the challenge).
 - Minimal research is required to solve the challenge – solvable by applying a standard tool or technique.
- Medium
 - Restricted to a single challenge category (see Section 3.1.2).
 - Multi-step challenge (at least 2 technical steps required to solve the challenge).
 - Research and analysis are required to solve the challenge – the challenge must not be solvable by just applying a single tool.
- Hard
 - Solving the challenge involves multiple layers:
 - Technical knowledge of one or more challenge categories (see Section 3.1.2) is required to be able to solve the challenge, or
 - Technical knowledge of a single challenge category, but requiring multiple technical steps (3 or more) to solve the challenge.
 - In-depth research and technical reading required (beyond standard institutional knowledge).
 - Programming or scripting knowledge is required to solve the challenge.

3.1.6. Difficulty Distribution of Delivered Challenges

The CTF challenges must be delivered according to the difficulty level distribution established below.

The Qualification event must have a set of forty (40) challenges with difficulty distribution as follows:

- 24 challenges of Easy difficulty

¹ A technical step is described as the application of a command, tool or technique applied to progress in solving the CTF challenge (e.g., using John the Ripper to crack a password or using a Hex Editor to view and extract an embedded file). Decoding Base64 or performing Google Searches are not considered a technical step.

- 8 challenges of Medium difficulty
- 8 challenges of Hard difficulty

The Final event must have twenty-four (24) challenges composed of the following difficulty levels:

- 12 challenges of Easy difficulty
- 6 challenges of Medium difficulty
- 6 challenges of Hard difficulty

The CSIR reserves the right to review and confirm that the delivered CTF challenges conform to the stipulated criteria in Section 3.1.5. Upon review, delivered CTF challenges that fail to meet the criteria must be replaced with CTF challenges that meet the requirements at no further cost.

3.1.7. Delivery of Bespoke Challenges

The bidder must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the provisioning of bespoke (new) CTF challenges for the CSC Final event:

- Of the 6 CTF challenges of medium difficulty that must be delivered, four (4) should be delivered with bespoke (new) CTF challenges
- Of the 6 CTF challenges of hard difficulty that must be delivered, two (2) should be delivered with bespoke (new) CTF challenges

The CSIR reserves the right to review and confirm that the delivered bespoke (new) CTF challenges conform to the criteria stipulated for the difficulty levels in Section 3.1.5. Delivered bespoke (new) CTF challenges that fail to meet the criteria upon review must be replaced with CTF challenges meeting the requirements at no further cost.

3.1.8. Challenges and Solutions

Each of the delivered CTF challenges, for the Final and Qualification events, must be accompanied by a solution (a step-by-step description outlining how to solve the challenge). This is a requirement for deployment of the challenges on the SANReN-implemented CTFd platform (see Section 3.1.9).

All of the delivered challenges for both the Final and Qualification events must support automated marking. Thus, no manual review or objective evaluation of the submitted answer to a challenge must be required, and the answer can instantly be marked as correct or incorrect.

Delivered CTF challenges and solutions for the Final and Qualification events should not be available on the Internet. Upon review, delivered CTF challenges and/or solutions discovered online must be replaced at no further cost.

3.1.9. Importing of Challenges

All of the delivered CTF challenges, for both the Final and Qualification events, must be compatible with the SANReN-implemented CTFd platform. Compatibility with the SANReN-implemented CTFd platform is defined as

- the successful importing of all the delivered CTF challenges via the CTFd CSV import function (bidders to confirm CTFd version for importing), or
- the manual importing of all the supplied CTF challenges, where each of the delivered CTF challenges must include:
 - The assigned category (see Section 3.1.2)
 - The title
 - The problem statement
 - Reference to the required supporting item(s) (see Section 3.1.10)
 - The score (related to the difficulty level – easy, medium, or hard)
 - Hint(s) (optional – challenge-dependent)
 - Reference to the answer in the supplied solution (which is the flag retrieved once the CTF challenge is solved)

Bidders must provide details of the compatibility of the CTF challenges to be supplied for the SANReN-implemented CTFd platform in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal.

Full details of the SANReN-implemented CTFd platform will be made available to the winning bidder.

3.1.10. Challenge Supporting Items

All of the delivered CTF challenges, for both the Final and Qualification events, must be accompanied by supporting items. Supporting items will be challenge-dependent, but can include the following:

- Attachments (files, images, archives, packet captures, executables, etc.).
- Service containerised as a Docker image:
 - For example, challenges reachable via TCP-only connections using tools like Netcat or SSH.
 - For example, challenges served as websites and reachable via HTTP(s).
- A technical description (how to set up the challenge – build instructions) for challenges requiring the deployment of containerised services must also be provided.

Bidders must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the inclusion of supporting items for the individual CTF challenges to be delivered for both the Final and Qualification events.

3.1.11. Physical Delivery of Challenges

Bidders must provide details regarding the method of delivery (e.g., shared drive, external drive delivered at the CSIR, etc.) that will be followed to deliver fully functional and complete CTF challenges, inclusive of the solutions and supporting items, for both the Final and Qualification events.

3.1.12. Commitment to Deliver by Required Delivery Date

Fully functional and complete CTF challenges, inclusive of solutions and supporting items, for both the Final and Qualification events must be submitted to the SANReN organisers at least 5 weeks prior to the start of any event for review by the SANReN organisers.

The review of all the delivered CTF challenges will focus on working functionality, completeness, compatibility with the SANReN-implemented CTFd platform, as well as exposure of challenge solutions on the Internet.

All issues detected must be resolved two (2) weeks prior to the start of an event at no additional cost.

The confirmed dates of the Final and Qualification events, and the required delivery dates are:

#	Event	Event Date	Required Delivery Date
1	SANReN CSC 2025 Final	29 November to 3 December 2025	27 October 2025
2	SANReN CSC 2026 Qualification	1 March to 15 September 2026	26 January 2026

3.1.13. Remote Technical Support

Remote technical support will be required for the CSC 2026 Qualification event. The CSC 2026 Qualification event takes place from 1 March to 15 September 2026, and the bidder will be required to provide remote technical support during the event. Remote technical support must be provided via email and/or Discord channel and must include the support of a maximum of 10 challenge-related queries.

For remote technical support, challenge-related queries received from the SANReN organisers must be addressed as per the following requirement:

- For queries related to Qualification challenges, a maximum response time of 24 hours is required.

Bidders must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the remote technical support that can be offered to the SANReN organisers during the Qualification event. The bidder supplying the CTF challenges will be required to provide the remote technical support and must have detailed technical understanding of the delivered CTF challenges.

Bidders must confirm that the party responsible for providing the remote technical support is the party that provisioned (developed) the CTF challenges.

3.1.14. In-Person Technical Support

In-person technical support will be required for the CSC 2025 Final event. The CSC 2025 Final event takes place from 30 November 2025 to 3 December 2025, and the bidder will be required to provide in-person technical support during the event. In-person technical support must be provided on-site and must include one (1) person per day for three (3) days from 30 November to 2 December 2025.

For in-person technical support, challenge-related queries received from the SANReN organisers must be addressed as per the following requirement:

- For queries related to Final challenges, a maximum response time of 4 hours is required.

Bidders must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the in-person technical support that can be offered to the SANReN organisers during the Final event.

The bidder supplying the CTF challenges will be required to provide the in-person technical support during the Final event and must have detailed technical understanding of the delivered CTF challenges.

Bidders must confirm that the party responsible for providing the in-person technical support is the party that provisioned (developed) the CTF challenges.

3.1.15. Number of Sample Challenges

Sample CTF challenges and solutions (2 x hard, 2 x medium, 2 x easy) must be supplied along with the bid. Each sample CTF challenge must be accompanied by a solution (a step-by-step description outlining how to solve the challenge).

The sample CTF challenges (2 x hard, 2 x medium, 2 x easy) and solutions must be supplied in a separate PDF document. All hyperlinks, URLs and/or IP addresses associated with the sample CTF challenges must be masked to avoid potential detection by antivirus software, for example:

- hxxps://example[.]com
- 123[.]101[.]101[.]101

Failure to include the sample CTF challenges as part of the proposal will result in non-compliance.

3.1.16. Alignment of the Difficulty Level of the Supplied Sample Challenges

The supplied sample CTF challenges (see Section 3.1.15) will be evaluated to ensure conformance to the defined criteria for the difficulty levels (see Section 3.1.5). Bidders must provide details in either the technical evaluation matrix or the technical proposal regarding the conformance of the supplied sample CTF challenges to the defined criteria of the difficulty levels.

3.1.17. Accessibility to Supplied Sample Challenges

The supplied sample CTF challenges and solutions should not be available on the Internet.

Discovering that the supplied sample CTF challenges and/or solutions are available online will result in non-compliance.
