SECTION 1: BACKGROUND, OVERVIEW AND RFQ SCOPE OF REQUIREMENTS

1. INTRODUCTION

The National Lotteries Commission (NLC) was established under the Lotteries Act No. 57 of 1997, as amended (Lotteries Act), to regulate the National Lottery and other lotteries and societies.

The NLC aims to ensure that funds raised through the National Lottery are distributed equitably and expeditiously across South Africa to advance the social upliftment of communities in need, addressing poverty and reducing inequalities in line with the National Development Plan.

The Commission is required to apply principles of openness and transparency in the exercise of its functions assigned to it in terms of the Lotteries Act No 57 of 1997.

2. BACKGROUND

2.1 NLC Board

The Board of the NLC will oversee those reports such as annual financial statements, sustainability reports, social and ethics committee reports, or other online or printed reports are issued, as is necessary and in compliance with legal requirements, and/or to meet legitimate and reasonable information needs of material stakeholders. The Board will also oversee that the NLC issues an Integrated Report at least annually, which is either:

- A standalone report that connects the more detailed information in other reports and addresses, at a high level and in complete, concise way, the matters that could significantly affect the organisation's ability to create value; or
- A distinguishable, prominent, and accessible part of another report which also includes the annual financial statements and other reports that must be issued in compliance with legal provisions.

The Board will also oversee that the following information is published on the NLC's website, or on other platforms or through other media as is appropriate for access by stakeholders:

- Corporate governance disclosures required in terms of King IV; Integrated reports; and Annual financial statements and other applicable external reports.

2.1 Integrated Report

The King IV Code of Good Governance South Africa 2016 (King IV) advocates for integrated thinking which takes account of the connectivity and interdependence between the range of factors that affect an organisation's ability to create value over time. Integrated thinking underpins all the following:

- Seeing the organisation as an integral part of society and thus as a corporate citizen;
- The stakeholder-inclusive approach;
- Sustainable development; and
- Integrated reporting.

To clarify the standing of the integrated report in relation to other reports, King IV deals with integrated reporting as one of many reports that may be developed and issued by an organisation, as is necessary, to comply with legal requirements, and/or to meet particular information needs of material stakeholders. Principle five of King IV also states that the governing body should ensure that reports issued by the organisation enable stakeholders to make informed assessments of the organisation's performance, and its short, medium and long-term prospects.

Integrated reporting (IR) in corporate communication is a process that results in communication, most visibly a periodic "annual report", about value creation over time. An integrated report is a concise communication about how an organization's strategy, governance, performance and prospects lead to the creation of value over the short, medium and long term.

It means the integrated representation of a company's performance in terms of both financial and other value relevant information. Integrated Reporting provides greater context for performance data, clarifies how valuable relevant information fits into operations or a business, and may help make company decision-making more long-term. While the communications that result from the (IR) will be of benefit to a range of stakeholders, they are principally aimed at providers of financial capital allocation decisions. (IR) helps to complete financial and sustainability reports. A framework has been published, but some questions remain about how to apply it.

3. OBJECTIVES

The objective of this TOR is to appoint a suitable service provider that will assist the NLC with the development, publishing and printing of an integrated report for a period of two (2) years.
