SPECIFICATIONS:

KOB KEEPING RAS REVAMP REQUIREMENTS AT THE SEAPOINT MARINE RESEARCH AQUARIUM

PROPOSED NEW FUNCTIONALITY DESCRIPTION:

1. The kob tank bottom sludge drain diameter = 110mm controlled by 110mm butterfly valve. The sludge drain line connected to an inline grid basket FG box and effluent trench system. The grid basket intended for catchment for big chunks of uneaten food. The basket is cleared after each sludge removal session.
2. Water exits kob tank bottom drain and is lifted in the current 110mm PVC pipe to the new filter system at the normal height of the water level in circular kob tank. This height ends in a T-piece fixed to an anchor point (25mm square tubing SS triangular arm fixed to a 40mm SS flat bar base plate at upper and lower point – and bolted to building wall next to the kob tank.
3. The T-piece transports water in the horizontal arm (vertical arm = siphon break) to a down pipe which is fixed to the current wooden beam overhead structure, and supplies the bottom drain water eventually to the inner dampening pipe (700mm diameter) in an upward flow of a radial flow swirl separator (RFSS) mounted on the floor next to the kob tank (furthest away from building wall mentioned). The 2,2m diameter cylindro conical RFSS (similar configured dimensions than for formal octopus units outside the building) equipped with a double rail notched trench (outflow) connected to an exit pipe which enters a drumfilter (50kl/h).
4. The 50kl/h drumfilter resistant to marine water and equipped with submersed waterproof UV light protecting its screen (60 micron) from developing biofilm. Drumfilter supplied with spare replacement screens and tools for replacement. Drum screen cleaning chemical supplied (6 months' reserve stock). The drumfilter jet pump equipped with a replaceable/cleanable SS strainer in drumfilter with mesh aperture smaller than those of jets. Drumfilter must have a 24 month warranty with service contract.
5. The drumfilter also receives a make-up water inlet in vertical open pipe (Make up water flow rate must be visible). The make-up inlet, the kob tank bottom drain line, and the 110mm kob tank overflow line (will be discussed later) connected separately by saddles or reducing bush (200mm x 110mm) into to the 200mm drumfilter inlet pipe. Make up water line equipped with flow meter within kink flow configuration.
6. Drumfilter backwash waste water connected to mentioned trench effluent. Drumfilter electrical connection to same cable point as for current defective drumfilter. Drumfilter filtered outflow water line connected to one of two fibreglass sumps (60cm (w) x 120cm (L) x 0,9m (H)). Head loss from swirl separator to sump is at least 250mm.

7. The first sump (FG) is furthest away from building wall (next to kob tank) and an FG (fibreglass) tower biofilter is in line positioned between the first sump and the effluent trench. The cylindrical FG tower biofilter (40cm diameter) is closed at the bottom and the bottom exit connected to the trench via a sludge valve (50mm). The tower biofilter (2,5m high) is bracket (rust free) connected to the building wall to secure its position. The tower equipped with 75mm exit pipe about 20cm from the top of the pipe. This 75mm pipe equipped with a bend and centred down pipe within the centre axis of tower. The down pipe ends 20cm from the floor of the tower and it is equipped with a stop end (end plug). Above the end plug the pipe is slotted with 5mm wide slots spaced 1,5cm apart and over a distance of 60cm. A leaky pipe (20mm) air diffuser ring is installed before the 75mm downpipe is installed. The ring fits firmly in the bottom between base plate and inner tube wall of the tower pipe and is made firm by the inner 6mm round bar (SS=316) bend to shape the leaky pipe configuration. The latter is connected with two 15mm nylon insert fittings on opposite sides of the ring. A 20mm PVC pipe (class 9) is heat fit to the nylon inserts and the two pipes (with valve control –externally, are connected to the overhead 25mm PVC pipe that also supplies air to the kob tank (valve controlled and suspended ring diffuser).

8. The 20mm PVC airlines keep the ring in horizontal position, which is about 20cm above the floor of the biofilter tower. The tower is filled with 125L of biomedica (Kaldnes). During normal operation the media will be in suspension in the tower. The tower receives water from the top using a dedicated 85W submersible pump (12kl/h with flow controller) - that retracts water at the return pipe entrance of sump 1 – from Drumfilter. The pump first supply water in bypass configuration to two parallel connected UV sterilizers (55W each) before entering the biofilter. Biofilter return water gravitates to sump 1 and close to the circulatory pump extraction point of sump.

9. The mentioned sump (no 1) also accommodates two 180w submersible pumps (20kl/h with flow controller)) which respectively supply overhead water (65mm PVC) to the kob tank (at a tangential angle), or alternatively (spawning sessions), supplying water to the bottom drain pipe upwards top entrance point (T-piece upper) to push water through the bottom drain to the overflow weir in kob tank. The pump supplying the bottom drain line is normally off until required (spawning sessions). This pump can also support or take-over the second pump if it is defective (valve controlled). The sump further accommodates an overflow pipe, as well as suction points for the current Speck pumps respectively supplying water to the current top deck heatpump and the foam fractionator. The installation requires also a backup heat pump on the outer top deck and with change-over control using valves. The return water of heat pumps to pass through a second set of UV sterilizers (2 x 55w). The latter also in a bypass configuration (and valve control) as mentioned above for biofilter pump line.

10. The second sump is similar sized and parallel to the first but about 150mm higher (brisk plinth). It is closest to the kob tank and receives water from the weir overflow of kob tank as discussed, the down pipe line (110mm) to the sump is wall mounted. The down pipe is straightened and turned 90 degrees upwards with water splashing onto the surface water of the sump. Before the pipe is bend upwards, a 110mm T-piece is installed and a 110mm butterfly valve between the T-piece and the bend. If the valve is closed, then the water will lift in the T-piece and taken by a fitted 110mm PVC pipe to the first sump (if eggs to be collected of collection screen be replaced). This line to the second sump higher than the vertical exit of the mentioned elbow (feeding second sump at surface level). The second sump equipped with bottom drain pipe with T-piece that allows water to enter the first sump (second supply line facilitated by elbow inlet – transporting kob eggs to sump 2)), should the drain valve (110mm butterfly valve) be closed between the T-piece and the effluent trench. The second sump to be lined with a nylon mesh (500 micron) screen bag to trap eggs for scoop net removal.

11. Other changes: Electrical connections and splash/humidity proof switches for all electrical equipment. System LP 100 aerators (will be supplied) and 180w circulation pumps connection to current available UPS unit (backup in case of generator failure, also breach power interruption between grid and generator commissioning)

12. Consumables/contingencies must include spare UV tubes (x 8), timer (overhead lighting), net liners for egg collection, overhead light tubes x 8 (kob tank). Leaky pipe diffuser for kob tank (similar to those in nursery system but with 50cm square frame and 15mm silicon tube connection between ring main and kob tank bottom floor.

2. EVALUATION METHOD

3.1. Preferential Points (80/20 system)

- 3.1.1. An evaluation of Price and BBBEE on the suppliers, that successful qualified to this stage of evaluation.
- 3.1.2. Calculation of points for price - The Preferential Procurement Policy Framework Act (PPPFA) prescribes that the lowest acceptable bid will score 80 points (for tenders under R50m) or 90 points (for tenders above R50m) for price. Suppliers that quoted higher prices will score lower points for price on a pro-rata basis. Where functionality is set as criteria, only bid proposals that meets functionality requirements will be considered for evaluation on price and B-BBEE.
- 3.1.3. The 80/20 as an appropriate preference point system will be used in the evaluation and adjudication of this quote. However, it must be extended that the lowest acceptable quote will be used to determine the applicable preference point system as per regulation (Section 3(a)(ii) of the Preferential Procurement Regulations (PPR) 2017, which states: "If it is unclear which preference point system will be applicable, that either the 80/20 or 90/10 preference point system will apply and that the lowest acceptable proposal will be used to determine the applicable preference point system". Therefore, either 80 or 90 points, depending on the rand value of the proposal, will be awarded to the suppliers who offers the lowest price, and proportionately fewer points are awarded to those with higher prices. Either 20 or 10 points are then available as preference points for EMEs, QSEs or B- BBEE contributors, as applicable. The contract will be awarded to the suppliers that scores the highest total number of adjudication points per category.

Calculating of points for B-BBEE status level of contribution

- 3.1.4. Points will be awarded to a supplier for attaining the B-BBEE status level of contribution by submitting original and valid B-BBEE Status Level Verification Certificate issued by SANAS Accredited Verification Agency or certified copies thereof; or B-BBEE Certificate issued by CIPC, or Sworn Affidavit commissioned by Commissioner of Oaths together with their bids, to substantiate their B-BBEE rating claims. SBD 6.1 must also be duly completed, signed, and submitted alongside the bid to claim preference points. Failure to do so will result in B-BBEE preference points being forfeited.
- 3.1.5. The 80/20 as an appropriate preference point system will be used in the evaluation and adjudication of this quotation. However, it must be extended that the lowest acceptable supplier will be used to determine the applicable preference point system as per regulation (Section 3(a)(ii) of the Preferential Procurement Regulations (PPR) 2017, which states: "If it is unclear which preference point system will be applicable, that either the 80/20 or 90/10 preference point system will apply and that the lowest acceptable supplier will be used to determine the applicable preference point system". Therefore, either 80 or 90 points, depending on the rand value of the quotation, will be awarded to the suppliers who offers the lowest price, and proportionately fewer points are awarded to those with higher prices. Either 20 or 10 points are then available as preference points for EMEs, QSEs or B- BBEE contributors, as applicable. The contract will be awarded to the suppliers that scores the highest total number of adjudication points per category.
