1. BACKGROUND

The Limpopo Department of Education has identified a growing need for enhanced cybersecurity measures due to increasing threats and regulatory requirements. Currently, the Limpopo Department of Education lacks a centralized system to monitor, detect, and respond to security incidents effectively.

2. INTRODUCTION

- 2.1. The department has implemented the governance risk and compliance of the ICT environment using the guidelines from the DPSA CGICTPF, version 1 in 2012. The DPSA framework was aimed at ensuring that government IT processes can be aligned.
- 2.2. The governance processes for on-premises ICT services and Cloud services need different approaches towards their implementation which imply that the governance, risk and compliance processes must be reviewed to align to the reviewed DPSA framework and technological trends.
- 2.3. DPSA has issued another directive for migrating ICT services to the Cloud in March 2022. The LDoE began migrating some of the ICT services to the cloud before the directive was issued. DPSA has given departments a year to comply with its directive. The DPSA requirements are that departments must perform the following before migrating to cloud services:
 - 2.3.1. Cloud readiness assessment
 - 2.3.2. Risk Assessment
 - 2.3.3. Business Case Development
 - 2.3.4. Electronic Data is classified
- 2.4. These DPSA directives and policy framework developments together with the trends in technology require that the department reviews its governance risk and compliance measures to remain relevant now and in the future.
- 2.5. Government departments are battling an ever-evolving threat landscape while juggling growing costs and security complexity. Analytics-driven

Security Information and Event Management (SIEM) platforms are a fundamental element to the department's security strategy to manage these challenges. However, the platforms alone don't bring about the transformation needed to achieve the primary goals. Timely detection of threats and compliance violations and the ability to manage incidents with minimal impact are paramount to facing constant threats and budget constraints. Mature and progressive operations need to factor business context, expertise, processes and procedures to optimize 24/7 security monitoring and incident management effectiveness and expense.
