The objective of the project is to achieve integration of activities and planning in the estuarine environment in order to ensure sustainable development while maintaining the integrity and resilience of the estuarine ecosystems.

4.1 Overall Objectives

The overall objective is to identify and streamline activities that are compatible with estuarine environment in order to improve the health status of the estuarine system; and ensure integration of the roles and responsibilities of various state organs, such as Department of Forestry, Fisheries and the Environment (DFFE), Department of Economic Development Tourism and Environmental Affairs (EDTEA), Department of Human Settlement, Water and Sanitation (DHSWS), Department of Mineral Resource and Energy (DMRE) eThekweni Metropolitan Municipality and the industries in the vicinity.

4.2 Key Output

Following are the key outputs that the Service Provider will be required to produce:

- Situation assessment report (SAR)
- Objective setting: Stakeholder workshop to develop a shared local vision, objectives and geographic boundaries of the estuary; a report on the local vision and objectives;
- uMkhomazi Draft Estuary Management Plan;
- Final Draft Estuary Management Plan for uMkhomazi Estuary; and
- Public participation report and all other meetings related to the project.

5 Scope of Work

The appointed service provider is expected to fulfil and carry out the following two main objectives:

A. OBJECTIVE 1: SCOPING PHASE

The service provider is expected to review all existing local information in the form of local research reports and management processes. This information is available in the form of maps and reports from various government departments, agencies and research institutions. It is imperative that local knowledge is considered during this phase. The information should be collated in the form of a Situation Assessment Report (SAR). The SAR should also highlight any major information gaps and the recommendation to address these. A geographical description and map of the estuary and its functional zone should be developed identifying different habitats and potential and existing management zones. The map should identify and record all developments within the estuarine functional zone (EFZ). The possible direct impacts of these and other local developments on the estuary should be noted.

Objective 1 is a crucial part of the assignment as stakeholder support in this initiative is essential. The description of the current situation should include information on:

- Describe legislative instruments that are currently applicable to the effective management of the estuary, including existing and planned management strategies/plans (i.e. catchment management strategies, IDP, SDF, Coastal Management Programmes, existing monitoring programmes etc.) and their relevance to the proposed management of the estuary;
- Provide a detailed understanding of the structure (abiotic and biotic components), functioning and state of the estuary, including the underlying processes and drivers. This should also include the Reserve for the estuary if it has been determined (or identify the need for determining a reserve) and indicate the present ecological state of the estuary where possible;
- Ecological health status (as per Ecological Water Requirement or National Biodiversity Assessment 2018);
- Describe in a socio-economic context (demographic, economic profile, etc.) and the level/s of dependence of local communities on the estuary. This will include assessment of the opportunities and constraints within the ecological system (including potential carrying capacity for activities), considering its current and recommended ecological state and limits of acceptable change where available, including Conservation Planning (Protected Areas, Ramsar sites, including 30x30 conservation initiative in the Global Biodiversity Framework etc.);
- Identify the goods and services or human use activities and their impacts or potential impacts on the present ecological state of the estuary; Current institutional structures governing estuarine issues;
- Finally, an assessment of the opportunities and constraints (e.g. legal obligations, constraints of tenure, prior usage, health and safety, natural hazards) should be done to guide the development of the EMP.

The estuary should be represented spatially in the form of a GIS Map indicating the following:

Important biophysical features (open channel area, Macrophyte beds, Invertebrate (prawn) beds, saline and freshwater interfaces etc.); All protected/conservation areas; Areas earmarked for rehabilitation; Land-use and planning provisions of surrounding lands; Infrastructure (e.g. roads, bridges, ablutions, boardwalks); Cultural & heritage sites; Recreational activities (e.g. swimming, boating); Living resource exploitation (e.g. bait collection, fishing areas, etc); Mariculture activities; Riverine and groundwater inflows; Wastewater discharges (sewage, industrial); Stormwater drains; Solid waste dump sites (current and historical); Water circulation and sediment transport systems.

More specifically, the service provider will be required to:

a) Review of legislation and how it pertains to the management of environmental threats within the Estuary

Review governmental legislation, e.g. national, provincial, regional and local {DWAF 1999: Resource Directed Measures for the Protection of Water Resources, National Environmental Management Act and Specific Environmental Management Act (SEMA) etc}. Requirements, linkages and overlaps with existing management plans and strategies (required by legislation) should be documented, e.g. IDPs and SDF's.

The arrangements for co-operative governance or management should then be assessed in relation to the existing legislation and available capacity. Procedures for the establishment or use of a local forum should be delineated and an optimum management scenario identified in association with local stakeholders.

It is important for the service provider to explain exactly how this legislation will impact on uMkhomazi Estuary, as the structure and function of individual estuaries, as well as the managerial interaction of the respective governmental departments will vary. An assessment of local by-laws also needs to be included.

b) Determine the goods and services provided by the estuary and possible impacts of climate change

Identify the various goods and services provided by this estuary (both existing and potential), as well as the means to ensure the continued provision of these services. Where possible, quantify the economic value of the different goods and services. Consult South African National Biodiversity Institute (SANBI) National Biodiversity Assessment 2011 & 2018 documents, respectively, addressing estuary classification, prioritization, protection and rehabilitation for guidance as well as comparison of status and changes over the years. Climate change impacts experienced has resulted in some changes in various ecosystems, thus altering their functioning as well as goods and services provided by that estuary. Identify possible impacts of climate change on the system for identification of management actions in the implementation plan.

c) Identify issues relating to the exploitation of living resources

Describe the degree to which exploitation of living resources occurs in the estuary and its potential impact on the goods and services provided by the system, such as the levels of consumptive use that can be sustained by fishing, bait harvesting, maricultural etc. Include the limits to exploitation, such as access and contamination (such as sewage, heavy metals, persistent organic pollutants etc).

d) Assess the water quantity and quality requirements

Synthesize all available information on the current freshwater flows (e.g. ground water, river flow and effluent) entering the estuary and the relationship between these and water quality and mouth condition. This synthesis should be integrated with the Department of Human Settlement, Water and Sanitation reserve determination process for the specific river and estuary, where appropriate.

This can include a desk top assessment of land use practices in the overall catchment, as well as the damage caused by specific land use practices within the estuary itself. This process should be conducted through the Catchment Management Agency (under the National Water Act). The transformation of habitats by the changes in water flow or the impacts of altered or polluted flows on the biota within the estuary (present and historic) should also be addressed. The impact of SAPPI factory along the estuary/ catchment must also be taken into consideration.

The findings of existing and future national and regional evaluations done for the Department of Human Settlement, Water & Sanitation (DHSWS) and/or Department of Forestry, Fisheries and the Environment (DFFE), such as the classification and prioritization of South African estuaries on the basis of health and conservation priority status for the determination of estuarine water reserves must be incorporated.

e) Determine priority restoration actions

Within this estuary, identify sections where restoration is required and suggest potential means of rehabilitation. More specifically, the impacts of the different land use practices both in the catchment and estuary should be identified.

Degraded areas, as well as proposed rehabilitation measures, should be highlighted to assist managers with future rehabilitation efforts, through an understanding of the gravity of the various types of degradation. A list of all available degradation profiles and for each specific estuary should be provided. This should include all successful and potential rehabilitation options associated with each type of degradation. In addition, monitoring programmes should be suggested for the rehabilitation of each degradation profile.

f) Determine protected area potential

Indicate whether the estuary is suitable for inclusion in the future network of Protected Areas (MPA, PA, RAMSAR etc.) in KwaZulu-Natal including the 30 x 30 conservation initiative as agreed to at The Kunming-Montreal Post-2020 Global Biodiversity Framework. Both specific requirements of the listed conservation area type and the associated application procedure that results in declaration should be described.

g) Awareness-raising and public participation/stakeholder involvement

The service provider should develop a generic awareness programme for the estuary as part of the EMP (Objective 2). It should relate to what estuaries are, the environmental roles they play and the goods and services that they provide. The valuation of the roles, goods and services must be addressed. This section must highlight the threats to estuaries, as well as how the implementation of existing legislation and political support can aid the management of these systems.

In addition, processes for involving relevant stakeholders and user groups in estuary management and decision-making should be provided.

B. OBJECTIVE 2: ESTUARY MANAGEMENT PLAN (EMP)

The Objective Setting Phase (2) involves the development of the EMP in consultation with key stakeholders. This development process is informed by the Situation Assessment conducted in the Scoping phase. In accordance with the Protocol, the EMP must include the following components.

- An executive summary/synopsis of the Situation Assessment Report (SAR) that highlights the key information that would inform and/or influence the management decisions within the estuary;
- A geographical description and a map of the estuary based on the Estuarine Functional Zone (EFZ) and any relevant buffers, clearly identifying the boundaries of the system.
- The local vision and objectives that give effect to the strategic vision and objectives of the protocol;
- A list of management objectives and activities, that at minimum addresses the following: conservation and utilization of living and non-living resources (taking into account the priority biodiversity list in the 2011 & 2018 National Biodiversity Assessment and subsequent updates), social issues, land-use and infrastructure planning and development, water quality and quantity, climate change, education and awareness; compliance and enforcement, and any other activities that will be required to maintain and or improve the condition of the estuary;
- Details of intended spatial zonation of the estuary specifying activities that may or may not take place in different sections of the estuary, and indicating:
 - which organs of state will need to be consulted given the type of zonation that is proposed; and
 - which organs of state will need to enact the relevant laws to implement the proposed zonation;
- A detailed integrated monitoring plan with a list of performance indicators for gauging the progress with respect to achieving the objectives of the EMP;
- Details of the institutional capacity and arrangements required for managing different elements of the uMkhomazi EMP, taking into account different departmental mandates;
- Should mouth management be deemed necessary for the maintenance of the estuarine system, the triggers for such and the related method statement shall be developed in a maintenance management plan that forms part of the estuary management plan; and
- Identify key research needs for the effective management of the estuary.

The EMP should be regarded as an implementation plan so it must address available resources (human and financial) and project a phased approach (five-year action plan) that incorporates capacity building and implementation at a local level.

5.1 Specific Deliverables
