2	Please assist : the technicals for the tender require 24/7 plant coverage plan yet the BOQ doesn't make provision for that. And there's only 67 people for DHP inside and outside plant ?	The power station is a 24/7 business, should the need arise for after hour work, the company should be able to execute. Hence the overtime and "as and when" on the BOQ. The 67 people has now been corrected to 68 people.

1	I would like to inquire regarding TECHNICAL EVALUATION under equipment and machinery. It is said that a lease agreement is required (if equipment is not owned), The bona fide hiring company issue the lease agreement at the time a machine is being leased, at this stage they can issue us a confirmation letter that we have an account with them and they will rent the machine to us when appointed. Kindly confirm whether such a confirmation letter from the equipment supplier, together with supporting documentation (e.g. company profile and equipment availability), would be acceptable to the evaluation team in place of a signed lease agreement at this stage.	Due to the nature and urgency of this contract, we would prefer that the lease agreement is in place to prove that the machine is readily available. We have experienced too many issues in the past where, when the machinery needs to be site, there are all of a sudden various issues. Hence, I recommend we stick with the requirement of a lease agreement to be in place with corresponding proof.
