● Judge cites lack of evidence and history of irksome lawsuits by former EPWP worker

By LINDILE SIFILE

A R17m lawsuit against a municipality has gone nowhere after the court dismissed an application by an unemployed man who has been described as a persistent litigant. Thabang Motjamela had approached the Western Cape High Court seeking damages from the Garden Route district municipality, sitting in George, over its failure to permanently employ him after his involvement in the expanded public works programme (EPWP). He claimed he was shortlisted for a position as a senior worker in 2021 and was sent for a medical examination in anticipation of being employed. However, he was ultimately not appointed, apparently because of his criminal record. Motjamela argued that he had disclosed his criminal record before undergoing the medical examination but was nevertheless led to believe he would be successful. He sought compensation for past and future loss of earnings; emotional and psychological harm; loss of dignity; and alleged violations of his constitutional rights. His calculations for his earnings stretched all the way to his projected retirement in 2054. The judgment shows his original salary claim, according to his own calculations, amounted to more than R32,285 per month before income tax. It included bonuses and provident fund contributions. But judge Phillipa Susan Van Zyl was unimpressed with the manner in which the case was brought before the court. She said Motjamela’s claims were not suited to motion proceedings because several issues would require oral evidence. “The applicant’s claims are generally not determinable on affidavit,” the judge said, adding that the information provided in the papers was sparse and lacked supporting documentation. The court described the application as “stillborn”, “bare and vague”, concluding that no case had been made out for the relief sought. But the judgment also opened another chapter in Motjamela’s lengthy legal history on the same matter with the same municipality. Motjamela has previously taken his fight over EPWP contracts to several forums, where the matter failed, including the SA Local Government Bargaining Council; the Commission for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration; the labour court; and the labour appeal court. He was eventually declared a vexatious litigant in relation to the George local municipality, a decision later confirmed by the Constitutional Court. The ConCourt has previously described his litigation as a “relentless campaign”. It noted that since 2023, Motjamela had brought four applications before it, including three applications for leave to appeal and an application for direct access. Several of these were dismissed for lack of reasonable prospects of success or because no case had been made out. The apex court also noted that after an order was issued in May, it received four further applications from Motjamela relating to his employment disputes. The ConCourt described the cases collectively as a pattern of “wanton and reckless litigation”. Despite this, Van Zyl declined to order him to pay costs. She said she had considered imposing a costs order to discourage Motjamela from pursuing similar litigation, but was reluctant to do so because he was unemployed, an indigent and his family was in poor financial circumstances. The application was dismissed.

CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Municipal Bidding Document (MBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a per se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Municipal Supply Regulation 38 (1) prescribes that a supply chain management policy must provide measures for the combating of abuse of the supply chain management system, and must enable the accounting officer, among others, to:
 - a. take all reasonable steps to prevent such abuse;
 - b. reject the bid of any bidder if that bidder or any of its directors has abused the supply chain management system of the municipality or municipal entity or has committed any improper conduct in relation to such system; and
 - c. cancel a contract awarded to a person if the person committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of the contract.
- 4 This MBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (MBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.
