Annexure D has repetitive items, should they be filled in individually, or we ignore what we are not bidding for

Question: Some items on Annexures B and D appear more than once. How should these be handled/priced?

Answer: Where the same specification is repeated, bid for one item only. Bid against the first time the item appears and leave the repeated item(s) blank. Items that look alike but differ in size, shape, type or perforation are separate items and must be priced individually.

For example:

Annexure B – Medical Physics

Items as published:

21		Lead brick used for housing the radioactive preparation workstation, protection of end users from radiation exposure. Hexagonal shape, flat.	Yes
22		Lead brick used for housing the radioactive preparation workstation, protection of end users from radiation exposure. Hexagonal shape, flat.	Yes
23		Lead brick used for housing the radioactive preparation workstation, protection of end users from radiation exposure. Hexagonal shape, flat	Yes

Companies that distribute the equipment's, do we attach the IOS from the manufacturer as opposed to ourselves as the supplier?

Indication needs to be there, you show us how you get your equipment's, and provide us with that letter from the manufacturer, in agreement with you.

Use of Third-Party Syringes

Raised by: Mamello

Question: How will third-party syringes be dealt with?

Answer: Third-party (non-original equipment manufacturer) syringes will be accepted, provided they are SAHPRA-licensed medical devices that meet the appropriate ISO standards. They must also be compatible with the injector pump named in the specification.

Note: Clause 9.13 (Third Parties) of the special conditions deals with payments and orders, not with products.

	Tiered Prices Question: May bidders offer tiered prices? Answer: No. Bidders must quote one fixed, all-inclusive price per unit of measure for each item. Tiered or volume-based prices cannot be evaluated and will not be accepted.
