1. SCOPE OF WORK

1.1. DESCRIPTION

1. INTRODUCTION

Rand Water's Source Water Quality section (Scientific Services) requires the use of helicopter charter services for aerial surveys of the river systems of the Vaal Barrage and Vaal Dam catchments. Aerial surveys include the identification of pollution incidents, riparian encroachment and source water management. These services also require photography and videography to record various incidents for later reporting.

In most instances the flying required is low level along rivers and wetlands as well as within confined residential and industrial areas and this is why a helicopter is required. Potential hazards include, telephone and electricity wires, bridges and high-level buildings.

This type of work is not just charter services from point A to point B but requires skilled pilots to ensure safe flying and transport of Rand Water staff at all times.

2. OBJECTIVES OF THE REQUIRED WORK

- To undertake the inspection of rivers and wetlands of the Vaal Barrage and Vaal Dam Catchments and within Rand Water's area interest.
- To identify sources of pollution (point source and non-point) impacting on Rand Water's raw water resources.
- To determine impacts of Acid Mine Drainage (AMD) emanating from the Central and Eastern Basin plants on the Vaal Barrage Reservoir as a raw water resource for Rand Water.
- To determine impacts of riparian zone development on Rand Water's marginal strip along the Vaal Barrage Reservoir.
- To determine impacts of flooding and drought events on the rivers and wetlands of the Vaal Barrage and Vaal Dam Catchments and within Rand Water's area interest
- To provide feedback to Rand Water, local authorities, catchment forums and other stakeholders of the impact of pollution on raw water resources.

3. SCOPE OF WORK

The scope of work varies due to the nature of work being done at the time and can encompass a variety of flights depending on the circumstances e.g.:

- An inspection of the Vaal Barrage Reservoir for riparian encroachment can often only take 1 hour 45 minutes.
- More detailed catchment specific pollution inspections require further flying distances and can take up to 2 hours and 30 minutes.
- Individual flights can also change once started as the scope of a particular flight depends on what is observed during the flight.
- Whilst planning of flights on a monthly basis is done for financial management during the year, flights are often done on an ad-hoc basis as and when operational requirements arise at Rand Water (e.g. following a reported pollution incident or a flooding event). If this is the case, a flight will need to be arranged within 24 hours.
