TERMS OF REFERENCE

1. BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON NHFC

The National Housing Finance Corporation SOC Ltd (“NHFC”) was established by the National Department of Human Settlements as a Development Finance Institution (DFI) in 1996, with the principle mandate of broadening access to affordable housing finance for the low- and middle-income households. NHFC is a state-owned company listed under Schedule 3A of the Public Finance Management Act, with the Minister of Human Settlements as its Executive Authority.

The target market of the NHFC is the low-to-middle income housing market which is defined as households who earn between R3500 and R22 000 per month. It mainly focuses on providing wholesale finance to social housing institutions, retail intermediaries and various other property investors and developers.

2. PURPOSE OF THE REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL

By implementing the back scanning, the NHFC seeks to establish a programme for the authentic, complete and accessible digital capture of NHFC’s paper records. These requirements identify the necessary resources and standards to implement a compliant records digitization programme for the purposes of good record keeping, archival preservation, and business continuity planning.

Digitization is the process of converting any physical item, such as a paper record, photograph or graphic items, into an electronic representation or image that can be accessed and stored electronically.

In the context of these requirements, digitization of NHFC records should be done to support NHFC objectives for organisational transparency, knowledge sharing and business continuity by providing better access to, and faster retrieval of information, and more cost-effective storage of NHFC records.

The NHFC is undertaking the digitization for following reasons, amongst others:

2.1 Reduction of Paper Records and Business Continuity

Digital records can be stored on electronic storage devices and thus reduce the need for physical space while also promoting strategies for vital records protection. This strategy is undertaken as part of a disaster mitigation strategy.

2.2 Better Information Sharing

Records digitization and increased use of electronic records improves information sharing by allowing access to digital information on web sites, records and electronic management system and by allowing efficient dissemination of information. Electronic records support more efficient ways of information access and sharing.

2.3 Archival Preservation

Digitization offers a strategy for long-term preservation of archival records by reducing handling of original hard copy archives, improving access to archives by making digital archives available through databases, websites and via email.

3. BACKGROUND OF THE REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL

Record-keeping standards require that records be authentic, complete and accessible to be relied on as evidence. NHFC may be required to prove the authenticity, accuracy and completeness of digitized records. The following is a summary of requirements for ensuring reliable digital copies:

TO BE...	...DIGITAL CAPTURE MUST BE
Authentic	The product of routine, documented, authorized copying and registration processes.
Complete	Accurate, legible reproduction of the original that contains all intellectual and physical components of the original without alterations to content.
Accessible	Available, searchable and readable to all those with a right to access it, for as long as it is required.

In order to achieve the qualities of authenticity, completeness and accessibility the NHFC must ensure that records digitization efforts are undertaken as part of an overall record-keeping programme. A recordkeeping programme consists of recordkeeping policies, standards, procedures and guidelines, and robust, reliable technology to support recordkeeping.

A critical part of the planning stage is incorporating good record-keeping practices into records digitization initiatives through the identification of record-keeping requirements and tools that will ensure digitized records will have the same evidentiary qualities listed above that should be inherent in hard copy original records.

Once records are digitized, consideration will need to be given on how they will be retrieved for use, on how the NHFC electronic system relates to the system used to manage hard copy records. It is important that electronic and hard copy records are organised, tracked, secure and retrievable within a record-keeping system (NHFC is currently in a process to implement this system). The successful bidder will not be expected to implement their own system but will use the one the NHFC is currently implementing as part of a separate project.

Record-keeping systems facilitate the management of records throughout their lifecycle and minimize the risks associated with poor record-keeping such as loss of or inaccessibility to records. Record-keeping systems provide the tools necessary for records retention and disposal, metadata capture, records classification, tracking and indexing.

All NHFC records are subject to the Records Management policy. At the end of a records life cycle, when a record progresses from active to semi-active to non-active, the record will either be eventually destroyed or retained as archives due to its enduring historical value. The disposal of physical and electronic (digital) records requires authorisation by Chief Information Officer (CIO) through the issuance of an approved records retention schedule. Paper originals should not be disposed of unless the division has specific approval from the CIO authorising the disposal of original hard copy records after digitization.

The following are principles to be followed when and managing the imaged copies to ensure that they continue to be authentic, complete and accessible:

- capture of the image copies as records into NHFC record-keeping system and they should be in a PDF format;
- management of the image copies under the framework of the NHFC file plan in alignment with National Archives requirements;
- keeping adequate record-keeping metadata to facilitate the records' preservation, use and retrieval; and
- careful planning for long term accessibility of the images.

It is important to note that records retention schedules apply to a record regardless of its format. When a retention schedule authorises the disposal of records after a certain period, both hardcopy records, as well as any corresponding digital copies of the records should be destroyed. Records management software that is configured with records retention functionality will have the capability to manage the disposal of hardcopy and digital records.

While records digitization can have many benefits it can also present certain risks in relation to the protection of sensitive information. Careful consideration should be given before digitizing records marked as those containing sensitive personal information.

Digitized records containing sensitive information will require appropriate metadata; security and access markers, compliant with the file plan and information privacy and information classification policies, to be incorporated into Enterprise Content Management (ECM) system where the digitized records will be stored. This is critical to ensure that the records are only accessed by those authorized to access the records, and to reduce the risk of possible unauthorised access to sensitive information. This information will be managed in the form of a file plan that identifies records series and their corresponding information sensitivity levels.

During the digitization process any security classified records (hard copy and digital) will be kept separate from public or unclassified records. This is done to ensure that classified records can be managed as a separate group, in addition to being protected for future records declassification initiatives.

All records, hard copy and electronic records (digitized and born-digital records such as emails) require unique identifiers or metadata elements to facilitate their management. Metadata is information about records, such as their date, title, description, security classification, retention, etc. The more metadata captured, the more complete the record, and the easier it will be to facilitate the management of and access to records.

The following is a list of recordkeeping metadata elements required by NHFC (where applicable):

METADATA ELEMENTS
Identifier
Title
Subject
Description
Creator
Date
Addressee
Record type
Relation
Function
Aggregation

4. DOCUMENTATION REQUIREMENTS

NHFC must be able to certify that their electronic records are accurate, unalterable and complete. Altered digital copies are not considered authentic and cannot be used as evidence of NHFC business. Therefore, it is essential that all aspects of the digitization process be well documented including image enhancement techniques, use of security controls and preservation techniques.

It is possible that the NHFC may be called upon to justify its claims that digital records may be relied upon as evidence, either for legal purposes, or by an external investigative body or by a member of the public. The measures recommended to certify that authentic, complete and accessible digital capture are as follows:

- adherence to standards set by Records Management Policy, File Plan, and procedures;
- application of relevant, complete and accurate metadata;
- implementation of procedures for accommodating documents with incomplete metadata;
- use of 'read-only' controls in network servers used for electronic storage;
- use of security controls such as access passwords, encryption and audit trails to prevent any alteration of the images;
- use of retention scheduling for destruction, retention or transfer of records;
- application of security classification for records that contain sensitive information.

The table below provides further requirements of documentation:

NHFC policy and procedures for record keeping and digitization.	Which records are digitized, destroyed, retained or transferred as archives. Verification of quality control measures.
The work plan outlining the digitization system	Ensure that electronic storage and use of file formats were chosen to suit the nature of the records and the organisation's requirements. Ensure that image enhancement techniques are done such as retouching and editing that may substantively alter the records.

Planning documents for long term accessibility of the digital copies	Ensure that all risks associated with digital records have been assessed.
	Ensure that measures are in place to ensure long term accessibility to the images.
	Ensure that digital records are managed in a trustworthy record keeping system.
Documentation of disposal as required by NHFC	Ensure that records (electronic and physical) are disposed in an authorised, secure and accountable way.

5. TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS

NHFC requires that digitized records meet the minimum technical specifications for image quality based on approved policies and international standards. Applying technical standards ensures the accurate reproduction of NHFC records while also considering the levels of access requirements and the cost of electronic storage. The service provider needs to provide details regarding the back scanning infrastructure that they will deploy at the NHFC during the lifespan of the project (e.g. scanners).

6. PROCESSES OCCURRING PRIOR TO DIGITIZATION

The following processes should have been completed prior to commencing digitization of records.

Records Retention & Disposition	NHFC has an approved Records management policy that has to be applied to all records to assess their eligibility for digitization.
Organising Records	Records have been classified and organised according to a file classification scheme.
Information Security	Records containing sensitive information have been identified and appropriate protection and security measures have been put in place for hard copy and digitized records.
Metadata	All record-keeping and other technical metadata elements have been identified and documented.

7. DIGITAL CONVERSION

7.1 Preparing Physical Files for Scanning

The following is a list of preparatory tasks that must be undertaken on records prior to digitization commencing. Any additional preservation measures, such as photocopying fragile items, needs to be undertaken at this time.

- Remove the following materials: file clips, staples, plastic sleeves, clips, metal clips and rubber bands.

- Remove file dividers such as plastic or cardboard section dividers. If the section divider contains relevant information, make a photocopy and place on file.
- Remove coloured tags and post-it notes from files. If the post-it note contains relevant information, make a photocopy and place on file to be scanned.
- Remove envelopes from file and place the content/s of the envelope on file.

7.2 Capturing Digitised Records into a Record-Keeping System

Capturing digitized records in a record keeping system is one of the most important elements of the process for future access, ease of retrieval and disposal. Electronic records must correlate with their physical counterparts in structure, description (file classifications and series, and indexing). This is where metadata capture becomes increasingly important, because it allows digital records to be tracked.

8. POST DIGITIZATION

8.1 Quality Checking and Control

Quality control measures for checking digital images should be applied throughout the process, preferably by an assigned staff member or a consultant who can chart any errors. This will include checking individual files for any errors in arrangement, imaging or classification. For large volumes, that random sampling (5% to 10%) needs to be applied.

Quality control of images includes checking for:

- smallest detail legibly captured (digitize smallest type size for text; clarity of punctuation marks, including decimal points);
- completeness of detail (digitize acceptability of broken characters, missing segments of lines);
- dimensional accuracy compared with the original;
- completeness of overall image area (e.g. missing information at the edges of the image area); and
- density of solid black areas.

8.2 Review, Evaluation and Revision of Digitization Processes

It is necessary to review the digitization process and evaluate how effective it has been. This is an opportunity to identify any redundancies, inefficiencies or problems in the process and revise and enhance the process accordingly. Any changes to the process must be reflected in an updated training programme.

8.3 Testing Access to Digital Images

It is important to test retrievability of and access to digital images that have been captured into electronic storage system. A retrieval exercise involving a sample of digitized records will suffice.

8.4 Applying Retention Policy to Digital and Hard Copy Records

Ensure that retention and disposition of image copy and hard copy records in accordance with the file plan. Please note that hard copies of records that are to be kept as archives because of their historic value must not be destroyed.

It should also be noted that records retention schedules apply to all records regardless of the format. In terms of digitization this means that a retention action applied to hard copy records also applies to its corresponding digital copy.

9. SCOPE OF WORK

Bidders are requested to ensure that they take into account what has been highlighted on the sections above. To this end, the back scanning and digitization and the off-site storage of NHFC Records will entail the following:

- a) Back scanning and digitization of all NHFC records, from paper to electronic. The records are located at NHFC Head Office, branches (Western Cape (Cape Town) and Eastern Cape (Qgeberha)) and off-site storage (located in Johannesburg).
- b) The following high-level deliverables form part of the scope of the project and must be provided by the service provider:
 - Planning of the project with the NHFC team;
 - Picking up the records from NHFC specified locations, and returning these to a confirmed location;
 - Managing the project staff;
 - Monitoring the sorting process;
 - Monitoring the scanning process;
 - Managing the indexing process;
 - Collection and return of an estimated 2 200 containers at the off-site storage, (standard size for offsite storage boxes, containing files/folders) from the premises of the service provider providing the document storage service. A container/box will primarily contain files/folders, on file/folder. Some of the content of the files may be stapled or tied together.

- Maintaining a register of all the container/box barcodes on the records management system (ECM) and the status of each of the containers/boxes.
- Secure storage and handling of containers and movement between service providers (this will be done in conjunction with NHFC staff members that responsible for security and facilities).
- Scanning of nominated/selected documents, as directed by NHFC, to PDF image format, one PDF file containing images of all the documents within the file/folder.
- Provide weekly activity reports.
- The indexing is limited to the naming of the PDF image files. The naming convention of the electronic images will be supplied by the NHFC.
- The service provider will be responsible for image optimisation and quality assurance. The quality control of the scanned images must be both reactive and proactive by the NHFC as required.
- The scanned PDF images will be submitted to NHFC system on a daily basis.
- Maintain backups of all scanned electronic images for the full duration of the contract (this will be agreed upon in conjunction with the ICT division).
- Images of scanned documents will not be retained by the service provider after the expiry of the contract.
- NHFC specifically requires the scanning of file covers as the first page of the PDF document when a file is scanned with its contents. The scanned file cover will be collated with the scanned contents of the file.
- Attending meetings;
- Give presentations to relevant audiences when requested; and
- Writing and delivering any further reports pertaining to the project.

9.1 Physical document destruction requirements:

- Destruction of scanned documents will be authorised by NHFC.
- Provide the weekly activity reports for the document destruction activities.

- The destruction of the scanned hard copy documents will be directed and supervised by NHFC.
- The destruction method for the physical documents will be shredding and pulping.
- A destruction certificates, that contains the detail of the destroyed documents, shall be supplied to NHFC on same day of destruction.

9.2 Success criteria of the project:

- Back scanning of NHFC physical files.
- Indexing of scanned NHFC files and documents.
- Destruction of scanned documents and files.

10. BID EVALUATION CRITERIA

The proposal will be evaluated in terms of the Preferential Procurement Policy Framework Regulations of 2022.

The evaluation of bid responses will be conducted in three (3) phases as follows:

Phase 1: Administrative Compliance

Bidders will be evaluated according to pre-qualification requirements which include the submission of documentation as set out on page 8 of this tender document. Bidders that fail to comply with Administrative Compliance of the bid will not be considered further for evaluation on technical requirements i.e. Phase 2.
