TERMS OF REFERENCE

1. Purpose

The purpose of this RFQ is to identify a service provider with the relevant experience, knowledge, skills and capabilities to assist DSBD, Sedfa and the ESD CoP to research and develop a professional development framework, qualifications, career path and professional body for the ESD practitioner in South Africa as well as implementation scenarios and plans.

2. Background

Sedfa is a partner in the development and roll-out of the Enterprise and Supplier Development Community of Practice (ESD CoP), launched in July 2023 for corporate, government and SOE ESD practitioners responsible for implementation of Enterprise and Supplier Development (ESD) strategies, policies, programmes and activities for the benefit of SMME development.

The ESD CoP is implementing a programme of activities to support the improved practice of ESD practitioners, in order to support the inclusion of more black-owned small and medium enterprises (SMEs) in the formal economy and corporate supply chains.

The ESD CoP is a membership-based initiative involving Government departments and private sector (corporate) representatives. One of its functions is to support the professional capabilities, skills, knowledge and best-practice sharing of enterprise and supplier development (ESD) practitioners.

The Ecosystem Development for Small Enterprise (EDSE) programme funded by the EU is supporting Sedfa with the ESD CoP by assisting with a programme of activities for the ESD CoP. The ESD CoP is concluding the development a foundational e-learning course for ESD practitioners. A series of masterclasses will also be held to serve as the basis for creating a continued professional development series for ESD practitioners with the ESD CoP and its partners. For more information on the ESD CoP and to assist with the development of proposals for the RFQ, the ESD CoP website can serve as reference information - <http://esdcommunity.net>

Through the development of the foundational elearning course, it was noted that a professional development framework and related qualifications and career path needs to be mapped and developed for the ESD practitioner. The need for professionalising the sector and the creation of a dedicated professional body to oversee and regulate ESD practitioners was also needed and would assist significantly in improved ESD and related transformation policies, strategies, programmes and the implementation and support provided to SMMEs. The ESD CoP aims to develop this and requires research and information gathering to inform an implementation plan for this to be realised.

Note that the target here is the ESD practitioners. ESD practitioners are not necessarily ESD consultants that implement ESD programmes for SMMEs on behalf of Corporates/SOE/Government. The focus is on ESD practitioners within Corporates/SOE/government and not SMME training/capacity building sessions as part of ESD programme implementation.

ESD practitioners are deemed as professionals responsible for the development and implementation of ESD and related organisational strategies, programmes and policies. While being responsible for the planning, managing and reporting on activities and resources allocated to ESD programmes; they are also accountable for the oversight, monitoring evaluation and reporting of the delivery against the planned programme outcomes and impacts.

3. Scope of Work

The ESD practitioners operate in corporate, SOE and government environment and the difference and nuances need to be considered and captured. There are also different sectors in which ESD operate that have their own qualification requirements and standards that also need to be captured and considered.

International, regional and continental experiences and best practices also need to inform the professional development framework so that there is alignment and to support career progression an movement.

4. Development of a Professional body development process/scenarios for the ESD practitioner via the ESD CoP as well as related opportunities, partners and operational models

The ESD CoP intends to grow and develop into the ESD practitioner professional body. To inform this process research is required to develop different scenarios and/or processes that need to be followed to achieve this outcome.

Legislative, regulatory and other requirements need to be captured and outlined. Case study examples can be utilised as reference and to justify and enhance the case for the ESD practitioner professional body.

The action plan needs to indicate timelines as well as allocate responsibilities to the project partners and other key roleplayers.

The critical path needs to be outlined and key supporting activities that need to be completed by the project partners. If there are any cost implications they need to be estimated and captured as well possible funding sources and funding partners and opportunities.
