SECTION A: GENERAL SPECIFICATION INFORMATION

1. PURPOSE

The Mpumalanga Department of Education (MDoE) requires a well-established civil and electrical engineering consultancy (the Service provider) for the assimilation, production and compilation of a comprehensive set of guidelines for civil and electrical engineering services at public schools in the Mpumalanga Province. This work would produce as a deliverable a full working guideline that would direct and instruct consultants on the expected standards and outcomes regarding civil and electrical engineering services at public schools in the province. It is envisaged that this document shall form the basis of the Service Level Agreement (SLA) and form an integral part thereof and that this shall direct conformity and set a baseline of standard outcomes that service providers would deliver to the Department.

2. BACKGROUND

The MDoE annually makes use of different Implementing Agencies that in turn appoint a myriad of consultants from various backgrounds and experiences in order to undertake designs on behalf of the Department. In most instances, the products of these design endeavors are not producing consistent and uniform standards for the civil and electrical engineering services which in turn does not produce desired outcomes in terms of maintenance or serviceability at schools.

- a) Storm damage of public schools in the province forms a substantial part of the annual budget and minor design alterations can significantly improve or even prevent storm damage.
- b) The provision of water and sewage in public schools is a major and serious problem for the Department of Education. Frequently the local authorities are either overburdened or constrained from providing municipal services. This lack of basic services leads to very poor outcomes for schools since neither the Department nor the school are set up to sustainably provide water or sewage outlets.
- c) Maintenance in schools is often left to the occupiers of the structure with disastrous results. Traditionally, a small amount was provided on an annual basis to assist with minor remedial interventions. This is called the white paper budget and does not cater for structural repairs, borehole refurbishments or any activity beyond the most mundane maintenance tasks. Some public schools do not have a financially empowered parent base to assist with maintenance at schools. Efficacious designs would alleviate a great burden and lessen the need for interventions by the school.
- d) Part of the guidelines should focus on the design process and standardization thereof, another part should focus on long term maintenance activities like termite prevention and water loss control as well as borehole protection.

3. DELIVERABLES

- 3.1 The successful service provider shall have extensive and demonstrable skills and experience in the design and construction of civil and electrical engineering services specifically at schools where municipal infrastructure is lacking and also have an intimate knowledge of civil and electrical interventions that have been found functional specifically for schools in the past.

The Professional Service Provider (Consulting Civil and Electrical Engineering Company) is expected to offer a highly skilled and experienced team of experts for successful accomplishment of services in each of the above categories, and appoint a Project Manager for overall coordination, who shall serve as the Department's day-to-day primary contact

- 3.2. The successful service provider shall have a proper and extensive grasp of durability design and maintenance requirements in the built environment.
- 3.3. The successful service provider shall be required to undertake an extensive study of education facilities in the province and produce a source document highlighting deterioration mechanisms and different design interventions with maintenance recommendations to address such deficiencies.
- 3.4. The successful consultant shall produce a Guideline document for the provision of water, storm water, sewage and other related civil and electrical engineering services at public schools. This shall give proper design dimensions and form to design elements like water towers, its foundations, storm water ducts, pedestrian crossings, side channels to buildings, structural foundation detailing and construction joints, crack prevention etc. This would include but not be limited to the testing of water and the drilling of boreholes and borehole protection.
- 3.5. The successful consultant shall produce guidelines that would instruct IA's on what sub-consultants shall be appointed and under what circumstances. (by way of an example: Surveyors / Geotechnical engineers / Geohydrological engineers / Structural Engineers). This should include clearly defined deliverables, items to be excluded from the design, and expected deliverables from the sub-consultants. Clear distinction between Civil and structural design work

1. Submissions:

During this stage, the Consulting Company, though not limited to below, shall comply with and submit the following:

2. Statement of Works and Technical Specifications

- 5.1. The method statement shall comply with relevant Acceptable Standards of the Republic of South Africa
- 5.2. Technical Specifications of methodology, material selection and execution or installation shall be in line with Departmental requirements, environmental standards and relevant South African Standards.
- 5.3. Technical specifications of equipment shall be compliant in capacity and size with that of current infrastructure and take specific cognizance of good practice and future maintenance requirements.
- 5.4. The method statement and technical specifications shall include a discrete schedule of items (in terms of type, design, sizing and interface with other components) categorically for each civil engineering component and denote functional restraints such as design capacity as appropriate.
- 5.5. The method statement and technical specifications must give detailed explanation of each item of works and not to be general and vague. Standards must be provided for main items of works, materials and products.

6. Bill of Quantities (BOQ)

- A Bill of Quantities shall be produced separately for each group of works or discipline (i.e. water & boreholes; sewage; storm water, electrical and maintenance element).

7. Works Schedule

- 7.1. Works schedule shall be developed as bar-chart or through one of the Microsoft or compatible CPM work programs (MS Project).
- 7.2. Works schedule shall include both construction, construction supervision requirements, temporary works, assembly instructions or other appurtenances as well as material selection and quantities as envisaged for final construction and acceptance, and include operational and maintenance requirements.

8. DETAILED SPECIFICATIONS

The first shall deal with the provision of acceptable norms and standards relating to the sourcing, sizing, placement and testing of water and its retaining structures. Inclusive of boreholes (its placement, expected minimum yield, sourcing and testing thereof). The second shall be a works template condensed on a single piece of paper not exceeding both sides of an A3 sheet of paper, which shall dictate the exact design of water towers. This shall be inclusive of all appurtenances, a comprehensive material list, and structural member dimensions, location, placement and fixation methods. Including foundation design, excavation templates, concrete design mix, bearing capacity tests required (DCP test) placement and construction sequences. The design shall be done in such a manner that all contractors, even novice first time contractors, shall be in a position to replicate the design in a safe, efficacious and exact manner Preparation of Norms and Standards calculation sheet Reticulation considerations Boreholes and protection of boreholes (3CR12 plate cutout fully optimized). Storm water pipe sizes and walkway crossings to name but a few examples. Included in this would be a guide to assist the designer in shaping areas around buildings to attenuate storms and provide natural holding areas for flooding. The expectation is that a small booklet with pictures would be produced to inform, aid and assist a designer in arriving at an efficacious design. Something that is not only meant for a designer but also as a handbook for existing public school personnel to assist even a novice contractor to construct storm water structures. Side channel design (next to buildings) Apron slab design (thickness and joint placement and spacing) Walkway designs. Water crossings for walkways Rain shielding walkway roof design. Use of catch pits and underground structures. Shaping of ground, retaining walls and maintenance Surface runoff structure designs Slope designs Kerb and carpark designs for storm water accommodation.
