SBD 9: CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited. Failure to fully complete this document and duly sign the declaration will result in your bid being disqualified.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
 - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution's supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
 - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
- 4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.

It is about learning and learning from experience with the learning process in the hands of the client and the coach listening and asking questions to challenge the client and guide to find answers. There is also a focus on client's goals, cognitive, behavioural and emotional processes.

2.2 One of the challenges facing the SA public service is poor alignment of public sector leaders' values and capabilities with the current requirements of the public service. This poor alignment may impact negatively on amongst others, capacity to respond to unlawful instructions, management of resources at their disposal, their strategic leadership role and the quality of services delivered. These are further amplified given the context of poor audit outcomes, poor systems and controls to combat unethical behaviours, poor consequences management regime, lack of willingness to act against those found non-compliant and other challenges associated with public service.

2.3 There is growing evidence that coaching can enhance resilience as well as build capacity and learning for those being coached. Sherlock-Storey (2013) used a 'brief and structured, skills based coaching approach' and found increased levels of resilience as measured by the Psychological Capital Questionnaire and asserts that 'coaching builds resilience', A study by Sherlock (2013) (Luthans, Youssef & Avolio, 2007).

2.4 Executive coaching is being explored as a leadership development intervention that will contribute towards building a competent, professional and ethical public service. If implemented well, this leadership development intervention could assist in producing a cadre of public servants who are agile, resilient, have wisdom and acumen to deal with challenges when they emerge.
