CERTIFICATE OF INDEPENDENT BID DETERMINATION

- 1 This Standard Bidding Document (SBD) must form part of all bids¹ invited.
- 2 Section 4 (1) (b) (iii) of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998, as amended, prohibits an agreement between, or concerted practice by, firms, or a decision by an association of firms, if it is between parties in a horizontal relationship and if it involves collusive bidding (or bid rigging).² Collusive bidding is a pe se prohibition meaning that it cannot be justified under any grounds.
- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
 - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution's supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
 - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
- 4 This SBD serves as a certificate of declaration that would be used by institutions to ensure that, when bids are considered, reasonable steps are taken to prevent any form of bid-rigging.
- 5 In order to give effect to the above, the attached Certificate of Bid Determination (SBD 9) must be completed and submitted with the bid:

² Bid rigging (or collusive bidding) occurs when businesses, that would otherwise be expected to compete, secretly conspire to raise prices or lower the quality of goods and / or services for purchasers who wish to acquire goods and / or services through a bidding process. Bid rigging is, therefore, an agreement between competitors not to compete.

1 PURPOSE

- 1.1 The Department of Forestry, Fisheries and the Environment (DFFE) requires the services of a suitably qualified independent consultant with extensive and proven experience and knowledge of the South African waste sector, its participants, and the South African waste and industrial policy environment, to conduct research and market assessment that will determine waste streams that have the high potential for circularity within the South African context.

2 INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

- 2.1 There is a growing understanding worldwide that global, regional and local production and consumption practices are currently unsustainable. This realization has resulted in Governments, businesses and citizens to be cognizant about wasteful practices, research efforts and policy interventions that aid in mitigating negative waste impacts such as depleted natural resources, poor air quality – caused by pollution, environmental degradation as well adverse climatic effects such as climate change and ozone depletion.
- 2.2 According to the United Nations' population projection article published in 2017, the world's population is expected to reach 9.8 billion by 2050. Continuing in the prevailing linear economy model - without drastic actions or interventions to change the existing 'take, make, use and dispose' mindset of natural resources, - coupled with little to no effort in closing materials flow loops, will result in detrimental impacts to human wellbeing and the environment . Studies have suggested that governments should play a leading role in promoting the circular economy concept through: reviewing and reforming existing laws; implementing new policies and regulations; encouraging the application of new environmental technologies, and facilitating public awareness and education on the benefits of circularity.
- 2.3 By prioritizing the implementation of the circular economy - in line with Goal 12 and 13 of the United Nations' 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, the South African Government will be contributing significantly in unlocking value that can be found in waste products. Focusing on the development of the waste economy, will inevitably create many more jobs both in the formal and informal sectors.
- 2.4 The Department of Forestry, Fisheries and the Environment (DFFE) recognizes the significance of the circular economy in developing a sustainable, low carbon, resource-efficient and globally competitive economy. As such, DFFE has adopted the circular economy as one of the sustainable development models. Significant economic and environmental benefits is expected to accrue to South Africa, particularly in the poorer communities, through the development of green jobs within the circular economy.

- 2.5 Opportunities for job creation exist in moving waste away from landfills and towards alternative waste treatment options throughout the entire waste hierarchy, which will provide necessary means in achieving sustainable consumption and production
- 2.6 Over 80% of waste recycled in South Africa is estimated to be collected by waste pickers from the informal waste sector. Waste pickers play a very important role in the collection and recycling of waste in the country, however, they do this work outside of the current municipal waste management system. Waste pickers collect and separate waste mainly from formal neighborhoods and industrial areas where high-value recyclables can be found.
- 2.7 The South African waste management sector has a strong potential to innovate for- and improve on pre-existing socio-economic conditions, and contribute to sustainable development and resource use. This can be achieved through: cleaner production; industrial efficiency; industrial symbiosis and re-use of waste, as well as identification and/or development of new methods of collection, sorting, reprocessing and manufacturing.
- 2.8 The concept of the circular economy is a useful way of understanding the implementation of the waste management hierarchy in terms of its contribution to the green economy and other measures of Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) as stated in Section 18 of the National Environmental Management Waste Act 59 of 2008.
- 2.9 The goal of the circular economy is to transition from a take-make-waste linear pattern of production and consumption to a circular system in which the societal value of products, materials, and resources is maximized over time. The three key principles of the circular economy should be upheld, which include: designing out waste and pollution, keeping products and materials in use, and regenerating natural systems.
- 2.10 A shift to a circular economy will change job markets considerably, some jobs will disappear, new jobs will emerge and many jobs will change in nature. To ensure a fair transition, it is important to assess the impacts of the transition to a circular economy on both labour markets and on social inclusion.
- 2.11 In alignment with the South African National Government priorities, which include the National Development Plan (NDP), Sustainable Development Goal (SDG): 12, the newly gazetted National Waste Management Strategy (NWMS), 2020 and the EPR Regulations, 2020, industries have an opportunity to go green and create/identify new possibilities for SMME's using various waste streams, which will support the overarching goal of sustainable development. In order to fully and successfully transition to a circular economy and ensure that its principles are implemented across the waste management value chain, the development and subsequent implementation of a policy instrument is vital to standardize the design and packaging of products that reduce production of waste, maximizes resource recovery for recycling or re-use and supports consumption of materials and products with a prolonged life.

- 2.12 In response to this, key strategies that are aligned to the circular economy concept are paramount as these will assist in promoting approaches to the design of products and packaging that reduce waste and/or encourage reuse, repair and preparation for recycling, support markets for source separated recyclables, investigating potential regulatory or economic interventions to increase participation in waste circularity.

3 OBJECTIVES

- 3.1 The Department of Forestry, Fisheries and the Environment (DFFE) requires the services of a suitably qualified independent consultant with extensive and proven experience and knowledge of the South African waste sector, its participants and the South African waste and industrial policy environment to conduct research and market assessment that will determine waste streams that have a high potential for circularity within the South African context.
- 3.2 The Service Provider should complete this work within 6 (six) months from the date of signing a Service Level Agreement (SLA) with the Department. The Service Provider should be appropriately experienced in research especially in terms of sustainability and the environment, within the context of policy development.
- 3.3 The selected service provider would be expected to deliver on the following key areas:
 - 3.3.1 Market Assessment and Research that will identify the circular economy value and environmental benefits of adopting a circular economy, weaknesses, opportunities and challenges, which will cover a detailed SWOT analysis within the identified sectors. Identify gaps in current waste management practices in South Africa, as well as the sectors and industries with the high potential for circularity. Assess the impact of circular economy in addressing socio-economic challenges of income generation and job creation to ensure a just transition, considering that the circular economy transition will change labour markets.
 - 3.3.2 Identification of key stakeholders and current initiatives related to circular economy, this should cover key actors, existing initiatives and institutional frameworks
 - 3.3.3 Assess the lifecycle of waste streams and the level of circularity in the country, this should cover baseline data on current waste generation, resource productivity and waste types as well as the potential for circular activities
 - 3.3.4 Assessment of the regulatory framework and policy landscape in the country, analysis of current policy landscape and identification of gaps that will inform the development of relevant policy interventions.

4 SCOPE AND EXTENT OF WORK

4.1 Market Assessment and Research Analysis

Identify gaps in the current waste management practices in South Africa. Assess the impact of circular economy in addressing socio-economic challenges of income generation and job creation to ensure a just transition towards sustainability, co-creation and social justice. Compile a detailed and objective evaluation of market trends, market opportunities, entry barriers and/or enablers, these may include challenges related to policies, taxes and/or incentives, waste infrastructure systems etc. Furthermore, provide recommendations for strategic methods to penetrate various markets in the waste management sector that use the majority of resources and which have the potential for high circularity, while outlining linkages to the overall just transition principles relating to an environmentally sustainable economy and social inclusion.

4.2 Identification of key stakeholders and current initiatives related to circular economy

Perform a stakeholder analysis and mapping that will provide a clear indication of key role players in the market, their required input and how they will be engaged. As part of the stakeholder map, there should be clearly defined methods of engagement on the various stakeholder groupings or list e.g. workshops, interviews, and meetings/discussion sessions, etc. As part of the feedback from the engagements, proof / evidence of these engagements such as meeting notes/reports, attendance register etc. should also be submitted. Conduct a review of existing initiatives or interventions on circular economy in the waste management sector and determine how policies are streamlined to support such circular economy activities in the country.

4.3 Lifecycle assessment of waste streams and the level of circularity in South Africa

Provide a detailed baseline report of waste and waste generated in the country. As part of the report, an evaluation of how waste resources are currently used should be undertaken.

4.4 Assessment of the Regulatory Framework and policy landscape in the country

Identify and compare potential existing policy options that will address the barriers of circularity, provide challenges that existing policies have on the implementation of circularity and suggest the most effective, efficient, and enabling policy options. In addition, provide recommendations for consideration for the creation of new policies that will support the creation of the circular economy in South Africa

4.5 Comprehensive Findings and Recommendation Report

Should cover the findings from all of the above work packages in 4.1 to 4.4.

5. EXPECTED DELIVERABLES / OUTCOMES

5.1 The Service Provider would be expected to deliver the following outcomes:

- 5.1.1 An Inception Report, which provides the project plan and detailed process on how the project will be undertaken.
- 5.1.2 Market Assessment and Research Analysis Report that details the market trends, opportunities and barriers, while also providing strategic market entry points for various markets in the waste management sector and linkages to the overall just transition principles relating to an environmentally sustainable economy and social inclusion.
- 5.1.3 Stakeholder Engagement and Analysis of existing initiatives and interventions on Circular Economy that highlights the mapped stakeholders and key role players in the waste management and circular economy space and review existing projects and programmes on circularity and how policies are streamlined to support circular economy activities.
- 5.1.4 Lifecycle assessment of waste streams and the level of circularity in South Africa Report that provides a baseline research on existing waste volumes and waste generated in the country. This will include an evaluation of how waste resources are used and if there are any current circular economy activities.
- 5.1.5 South African Regulatory Framework and Policy Landscape in the country Report that will identify and compare existing policies that may assist with the implementation of the circular economy concept and the challenges that come with existing policies, while also providing an analysis for the creation of new policies for the circular economy.
- 5.1.6 Comprehensive Findings and Recommendation Report outlining the identified market opportunities including circularity potential, socio-economic significance in the country, the key policy enablers that are critical to the transition to a circular economy.

6. PERIOD / DURATION OF PROJECT / ASSIGNMENT

- 6.1. Project must be completed within 6 (six) months after the signing of the Service Level Agreement (SLA) by both parties and issuing of an official purchase order.

7. COSTING / COMPREHENSIVE BUDGET
